

State Capitol Condemned as Fire Trap

17 EMPLOYEES TOILING IN CROWDED ATTIC ARE ORDERED OUT

Rubbish Litters Halls; Bad Wiring Found; Windows Lacking

(By James H. Inglis, Times Staff Correspondent)

NOTE—What the Crawford Avalanche said about the State Capitol and the conditions under which employes have been compelled to work in the summer-time is corroborated by the action of the State Fire Marshal.

Lansing, July 10.—The State Capitol building was condemned Saturday as a "fire trap" and 17 employes in a crowded attic workshop were ordered evacuated by the state fire marshal.

Possibility that many of the Capitol offices will be moved to Detroit appeared likely, since every available foot of office space in Lansing buildings is occupied.

"If a fire started in the State Capitol Building scores of young women undoubtedly would be trapped in the crowded fourth floor quarters," Charles E. Gauss, state insurance commissioner, said.

Defective and overloaded electric wiring, tons of inflammable records and the dust-dry archives of the state, passage ways blocked with record files and littered with dirt and paper rubbish were cited in the fire marshal's report.

Windowless Rooms

The historic 50-year-old Capitol structure houses dilapidated windowless work rooms for women state employes which state factory inspectors would not tolerate for private industry, Edward J. Fry, former superintendent, has stated.

State officials have two alternatives in meeting the acute problem to find space for state offices. Construction of a new state office building could be authorized or many offices could be moved to Detroit.

Andrew Belanger, superintendent of the Capitol, reports no office space available in Lansing. The fourth floor of the Capitol Building was ordered evacuated within 30 days unless new stairways can be constructed under the fire marshal's order.—Detroit Times.

COUNTY CLERKS HAVE BIG TIME

County Clerk and Mrs. Axel Peterson returned Saturday from Crystal Falls where they attended a three-day meeting of the Michigan State Association of County Clerks. Approximately 150 delegates and guests were in attendance. The meeting Wednesday was opened by Mr. Peterson, president, and Attorney Clarence D. Dwyer of Crystal Falls delivered the address of welcome at the luncheon which followed the opening session.

Oliver W. Putz of Crystal Falls was elected president of the association for the ensuing year; Allen C. Hyde, Hastings, first vice-president; Fenton R. Bulow, Charlevoix, second vice-president; Emmett M. Gibbs, Washtenaw county, secretary and John A. Hagman of Livingston county, treasurer. Hastings in Barry county was chosen to be the 1938 convention city.

The banquet Thursday evening in the Crystal Falls Inn was attended by about 300. The members enjoyed a dinner Friday at the Von Platen-Fox Lumber Company camp at Golden Lake in Iron River township.

Name Given to Apollo Delius was the name given to Apollo, supposed to have been born on the island of Delos.

Grayling Canoe Carnival Aug. 7-8

The annual Grayling canoe carnival sponsored by the local Rubie Babbitt chapter of the Izaak Walton League should be bigger and better than ever if the plans of the Canoe Carnival committee fully materialize.

The committee consisting of Ernest Borchers as chairman, assisted by Jack Redhead, Chris Hoesli and Clare Madsen, have set August 7th and 8th as the dates.

Present plans call for a trip down the AuSable river each of the two days, with a stop at the Burton place for a picnic lunch followed by entertainment in the form of log riding contests, greased pole walking over the river and other interesting events. A landing dock will be built temporarily at the Burton place where a force of men in waders will assist in unloading and loading for the balance of the trip down river. Arrangements are being made with the Ladies Aid society to handle all arrangements for the picnic lunch. A program of entertainment is also being planned on our main street which no doubt will include a night dance on the pavement.

The committee is working hard to make this affair a huge success and all they request from local residents is their full cooperation as no cash donations will be solicited in past years. As a community it is our duty to see that our guests at the carnival receive every consideration and the committee wants local residents to cooperate by listing your canoes and river boats as being available for use these two days. Also the committee desires the names of all who feel competent to guide boats down the river. Owners of boats as well as guides will be paid for services rendered and the boats will be returned promptly following the carnival.

The East Michigan Tourist Association is working in conjunction with the local committee to take care of publicity and will send Mr. Fry of their office to assist the local committee.

Izaak Walton League Party

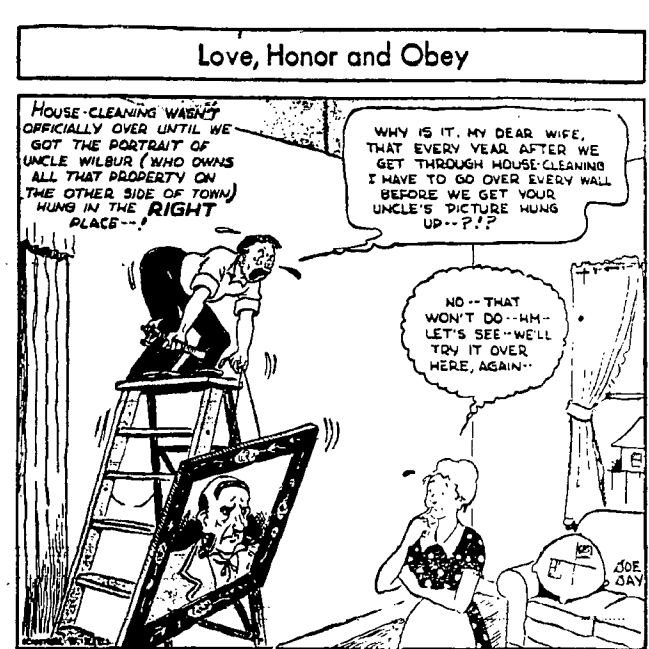

The Izaak Walton League party held last Thursday night in the Oddfellows Temple was an enjoyable affair to all in attendance, however the attendance was not what it should have been considering the trouble and expense that our local chapter went to in order to provide a good program. Possibly one of the most interesting movie pictures of deep sea fishing that has been photographed was exhibited and fully enjoyed by all. Those who were fortunate in seeing this picture said they wouldn't have missed it for anything.

It is regrettable that when Grayling has a real live organization like our Izaak Walton League who are working for the betterment of the community, that more of our citizens don't show more appreciation of their efforts and attend these meetings. Let's snap out of it and show some real community cooperation in the future.

Following the entertainment, a Dutch lunch was enjoyed by the members and their guests, which included the wives this time. Thanks are due Jack Redhead who secured the wonderful picture and the sound machinery to put it on with. "Tiny" Russell is also to be thanked for the splendid Dutch lunch he arranged.

SPECIAL CHICKEN DINNER SUNDAY

A special chicken dinner will be served Sunday at Shoppens Inn, price $1.00. Dining room open from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. Sunday evening the dining room will be open from 5:30 to 8 o'clock.

Lansing—"Sharing the wealth," around the good things of life, is running into financial difficulty at the state capital.

Imbued with the happy desire to do something for everybody, the state legislature whooped through scores of appropriation bills in utter disregard of the budget director's warnings. Having exceeded the most optimistic figure of state revenues by more than $18,000,000 the financial puzzle was then thrown into the lap of Governor Murphy with the blanket authority of a dictator to lop off allotments here and there.

All of which merely proves that distribution of wealth as a principle of social justice is fine and dandy, but someone has got to pay the bill. The administration has heaved consistently to the line that no new taxes must be imposed and that the budget must be balanced. Murphy now must make his choice: Deprive some citizens of the state's blessing or get somebody to pay the Piper. Otherwise it's a boom-like deficit.

Declared Harold Smith, budget director: "The only way we can balance this budget is by a miracle."

Having "passed the buck" to the governor, the legislature may find the responsibility back on its doorstep on July 29 when the special session begins at Lansing.

Special Session
In addition to creating a fiscal entanglement that needs straightening out, the legislature packed up its baggage early Saturday, June 26, leaving a number of important measures dangling amid air. Among these were civil service, caught in an inter-house jam on the final night; rural electrification along the lines of the federal power policy of encouraging co-operatives, unemployment compensation revisions, and teachers' tenure.

The rural electrification bill is a New Deal pet, making it easy for farmers' co-operative to condemn land by right of eminent domain for their right of way. This bill passed the House but died in the Senate utilities committee. It contained a clause that would discourage private utilities extending their lines into rural areas by a requirement that permission must be obtained first from the state utilities commission.

The charge is being made that public utilities are rushing in to take the cream of the rural areas, leaving only the sparsely settled regions for federal-subsidized co-operatives.

Pointing to 1940?
The governor may again accede to demands of labor leaders. According to Lansing reports, he wants the labor relations bill, which Speaker George Schroeder proclaimed to be near perfect and which Rep. Joseph Murphy insisted was the executive's final choice, revised to appease the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. on the matter of mass picketing, registration of unions, and other points.

The Michigan act also differs from the Pennsylvania act—and that is of interest in view of Governor Earle's prominence as a 1940 presidential possibility.

in the power of subpoena investigated with the labor board to make investigations of alleged unfair practices and to issue resist and desist orders, which when reviewed by the court, become enforceable.

The power of subpoena may be used against either employees or employers to make mediation effective, and to discourage racketeering and extortion.

The Michigan act establishes the principle that peaceful picketing (which the United States supreme court ruled last May to be a legal right of the employee) should be limited to said employees. Mass picketing by non-employees would be outlawed. A federal statute now forbids transport of strike-breakers in interstate commerce.

If the governor again changes his mind, most observers believe it will be another "straw in the wind" looking forward to 1940.

Insects on Parade

As every gardener well knows, insects are among the many little things that go to make life interesting.

Books have been written about ants, bees, and spiders. But the first insect zoo in the United States was just opened this summer in Convention Hall, Detroit, as one of the unique attractions of that motor metropolis. No. 4 in America.

Brayton Eddy, author and lecturer, is director of the exhibits which include clownish tumblebugs, Black Widow spiders, Coropion moths, walking sticks, dragon flies, rose beetles, horned grasshoppers, and even mosquito wrigglers.

Trailer Houses

In nearly every city and town in Michigan you will find an automobile house-trailer or two, parked on a vacant lot, emergency domicile of industrial workers.

It is significant then that the first prefabricated trailer house in America, built strictly for residential use, should be made in Michigan. The "Covered Wagon" firm at Mt. Clemens announces that a unit, containing three rooms and a bath, will be put on the market next fall to sell at a retail price of $600 to $750—undoubtedly on installment payments, too.

In the making of prefabricated trailer-houses, mass production methods will be applied with the resultant lowering of cost for the public. Michigan with its world-famous skill of the manufacturing assembly line may be the center of another new industry. The Mt. Clemens experiment will be watched with interest everywhere.

Next Monday Is Circus Day Here

In the wee small hours of next Monday morning, Lewis Brother's Big Three Ring Circus will come rolling into your city on its big fleet of red and orange trucks. It requires over 40 gigantic trucks and trailers to transport this mammoth organization which will give two performances here on Grayling Tourist Park show grounds at 2 in the afternoon and at 8 in the evening.

Lewis Brother's Big Three Ring Circus is one of the largest and best equipped motorized shows traveling the American highways and playing the American cities today. Summer after summer for the past twenty years, this big circus, under the direction of Lewis Brothers, pioneers in the circus world, have made hundreds of thousands of people all over the United States thrill to the magnificence and beauty of their productions. Lewis Brothers were among the first to recognize the convenience in motorized equipment in transporting the circus, and as a result of their research, you will find the Lewis Brothers' Circus elephant wagons and wild animal cages all mounted on motorized equipment. After using railroad transportation for a number of years, Lewis Brothers decided to motorize their big three ring circus and in doing so have brought to the American public the finest and cleanest show on the road today, and they are welcomed back to the same cities season after season.

The personnel of Lewis Brother's Circus comprises three hundred people, and among them you will find nationalities from all over the world, and each one a talented artist in his or her own act. Each and every act is strictly high class, and has been personally interviewed during the winter months by the Lewis Brother's Circus scouts.

Under the mammoth big tent and in the three big rings, you will witness an array of beautiful performing horses, ponies, bears, dogs, monkeys, goats, and wild animals. You will see these hundreds of dumb animals performing tricks and stunts almost unbelievable; you will see them doing these tricks merely at the command of their trainer. Months and months of time and patience have been spent day after day during the winter at Lewis Brother's training quarters. You will witness beautiful young misses in aerial and perch acts, and young men in acrobatic, tumbling and wire walking acts. There are thrills galore when you see Captain LeRoy Howze put his ferocious Nubian lions thru their paces in a giant steel arena, and then comes the part that all the kiddies as well as the grown-ups like—the clowns. No circus is complete without these funny fellows, and the management of Lewis Brother's Circus believes they have an array of clowns better than most circuses.

The performance is chuck full of surprises, thrills and enjoyment for two solid hours. The one price of admission to the big show is all that you are required to pay unless, of course, you desire a reserved seat, which comes at a very small additional charge. The one ticket to the big show also entitles the purchaser to visit the menagerie free of charge, with uniformed attendants assuring you of courtesy and perfect safety at all times.

Among the many outstanding acts is Hank Filbert and his wild western aggregation, direct from the plains of Texas. Hank and his gang of real cowboys and cowgirls will thrill you with their brilliant performance of fearless riders, sharp shooters, whip crackers, lariat throwers, and the breaking and riding of untamable horses.

Before the big show performance you will also find on the midway, a high class sideshow presenting many oddities and freaks from all over the world. Here you can be entertained as long as you wish at a very nominal charge. Don't forget the date, and bring the whole family to see this big circus. Don't forget American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will receive a percentage of the show's proceeds.

Small Attendance At School Meeting

With but a handful of people, numbering nine to be exact, the annual meeting of School District No. 1 was held as scheduled Monday night at the school building. Without a doubt tax payers are satisfied with the way school affairs are being handled; otherwise there would have been a larger number out. And it's a nice compliment to this body of men, who we believe truly have school affairs nearest their heart, and may be depended upon to do their best in any matter pertaining to the school that may come up.

The meeting was called to order by President T. P. Peterson and the regular reports read by Secretary Roy Milnes and Treasurer Emil Giegling.

Trustee Carl Jensen's term of office expired at this time and A. J. Joseph was elected to succeed him. At a meeting of the Board itself held Tuesday evening T. P. Peterson was elected to succeed himself as president, Roy Milnes and Emil Giegling as secretary and treasurer respectively. The other members of the board are James McDonnell and A. J. Joseph.

FORMER GRAYLING GIRL MARRIED IN FLINT

At a very beautiful ceremony witnessed by 300 people, Miss Marcella Marie Sullivan of Flint was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Joseph Shinnick of Chicago, at St. Michael's church, Flint, on Saturday, July 3. The bride is a daughter of the late Charles Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan, the latter who is now Mrs. William J. Beach of Mt. Morris.

The bride was given away by her brother, Charles, and there was a bevy of other attendants to make up the remainder of the bridal party. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Durant and immediately following, the couple left for Montreal where they sailed on the S. S. Lady Rodney for Bermuda to spend their honeymoon. Returning they will make their home in Chicago.

Mrs. Shinnick spent her childhood in Grayling and graduated from Grayling high school with the class of 1924. For the last ten years she has taught in Flint schools, going from the elementary grades to Junior high, and for the past 6 years has been director of girls athletics at Northern High school. She has also been most active in the Catholic Business Girls Club there. Mr. Shinnick is a graduate of the University of Illinois and is affiliated with the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The Sullivan family are remembered by many friends, and we are sure this bit of news will be most interesting to them, and congratulations and best wishes are extended to the bride and her husband.

Kiwanians Hosts To Gen. and Staff

Grayling Kiwanians were hosts to Brig. Gen. Heinrich Pickert and his staff officers of Michigan National guard at their meeting Wednesday evening. About 15 guests were present.

It was a most delightful affair with plenty of rousing singing, a good dinner, wit, humor, short speeches and the principal speech by Gen. Pickert himself.

President O. P. Schumann, after opening the meeting and extending a brief message of greeting to the visiting guests, turned the program over to Vice President Charles E. Moore.

Col. LeRoy Pearson, chief of the General's staff, introduced his colleagues. Other guests present were Judge Shaffer of Gladwin, and Kiwanians Lee Yeager and John Schrauder of Munroe.

Col. Samuel Pepper told of some of the changes that had taken place in the camp since its beginning here in 1914 up to the present time. At the time the land was taken over by the state Col. Pepper was deputy attorney general of Michigan and as such it was his duty to check upon the titles to the lands contained in the area. It appeared that Col. General Pickert, Col. Pearson and Major McKenny were the only ones present who were in service the first year the troops were in camp in Grayling. The latter a corporal in the ranks and Col. Pearson the captain of a Port Huron Company.

With Gen. Pickert on a speaking list any program is complete. That fine American patriot and able officer just lets his zeal overflow until it makes one feel that he just must become a better citizen in the future. The need of real patriotic citizenship seems more needed today than at any other time in the history of our country. It is the small communities such as Grayling that the nation must look for its protection should a crisis ever arise. He paid a nice tribute to the late Rasmus Hanson who, with his business associates, contributed the lands to the state for the guard camp. He expressed his sincere good wishes for the health of the members of his family. Of course the General was bubbling over with humorous stories and interesting experiences, which were related in his usual clever manner. He also paid a high tribute to the late Maj. Gen. Guy M. Wilson.

Another fine feature of the evening's program was a group of songs sung by Edward Brigham of M. S. C. Brigham was an enrollee in Camp AuSable and while here appeared on many local programs and the church choir. He is in uniform in camp taking training with the others. His marvelous voice was a surprise to most of those who heard him that night and we can see where Edward is sure to get a lot of curtain calls before the camp closes in a couple of weeks. Mrs. Clippert was his accompanist.

Next week's meeting will be held Wednesday noon as usual and a good speaker is being arranged for.

Making Windows Attractive.
Even though there may not be anything outside a window to make the view attractive, it is possible to make the window itself quite picturesque. Glass shelves, supported by brackets, will serve as bases for colored glassware or fragile figurines. Plants and flowers, and odds and ends from household collections may all adorn such shelves, and when taste is used in the assembling, the general effect is decorative.

Children in Court

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

A young man who recently returned from visiting relatives in a city where a labor dispute was in progress today learned in court that the world did not owe him a living.

When apprehended in the act of burglarizing a gasoline station, he suddenly informed officers that it was no sin to rob a large oil company. In this particular instance, years of splendid home training were cast aside after an adolescent boy had witnessed the violence and hatreds that accompanied the labor dispute. The sons of rich and poor alike should be carefully shielded from such scenes for they not only cause youngsters to act in an anti-social manner but tend to stimulate class hatreds.

GOLF GRIPS

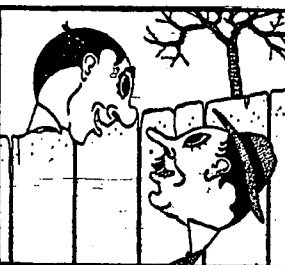

GRIPPING THE CLUB

THERE are three ways of gripping the golf club; the overlapping, interlocking and the natural, two handed grip. In the overlapping grip the little finger of the right hand overlaps the forefinger of the left. With the interlocking grip the little finger of the right hand is interlocked with the forefinger of the left. A large number of the good golfers today employ one or the other of these grips and their value lies largely in creating better coordination of movement between the two hands.

The problem is to make the hands work as closely together as possible, to eliminate any tendency toward friction between the two. Good golf is a matter of smooth stroking and there is trouble enough along the swing's path without handicapping the stroke at the start. There are craftsmen in every field who grip the tools differently and golf is no exception. Two of the greatest golfers of this era, Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen, used different grips, the former overlapping and the latter, interlocking. Most of the good golfers of the present day possess large hands and this makes the problem of which of these two grips to use comparatively simple for both are suitable for big hands and long fingers. Among the rank and file of players, however, there are many with small hands and stubby fingers. Women in particular have a natural handicap in small hands and to overcome this the two handed grip is used. The hands placed on the club in the manner illustrated above, cover a good portion of the shaft and if held on the light side will co-operate together well. Many champions of the past have used this grip. The point to remember is that the hands must work in both directions equally well.

News By Nosey

This week we will have to sort of jump around to keep up with everyone, and even then I won't be able to tell you all the news that would take too long.

The folks in Len Herbison's cabin seem to be enjoying themselves. I understand they will have a party, and I'll try to see the cut leave Shaw's Park, and had out about them and let you know later.

I noticed Albertina Armitage had guests at their cabin over the Fourth. We didn't see as much of Albertina as we would like to, but when she does come party, there is always a gay time down at that end of Shaw's Park.

Walter Shaw had a trader, parked in his front yard, and there was another one up by the corner of the park. If this keeps up we will have to get to the trader camp out of Lake Marquette. They all seemed to be they caught quite a few trout.

Pat Wicks caught a trout, and that is the best she did. We didn't see any more because Pat never catches any with her head. She told me about it and while it sounds like a good fish story, I really believe it is true. It seems Pat was trying to get a nice catch of trout for some special purpose, as she had the trout a long way above their cabin in order to have a nice stretch of river to fish down stream. Pat started right in by getting some big ones, and was very pleased. However the fish weighed so much that her shoulder got tired. She shifted the strap on her live sack back and forth to ease the pressure. As she fished through a shallow part of the river Pat noticed the sack was becoming tighter, and looked around just in time to see the last trout slipping through a hole in the bottom of the bag. Pat felt pretty sick, however, this didn't get her down. She went right to work and came home with six nice trout stuffed into her waders. So you see those women "fishers" are getting there.

There was lots of doing across the river at Paul Young's cabin, and I have noticed Jack Young driving a car, so I guess that broke him didn't get him down for long. Grant Shaw seems to be up and doing again, after trying to remove that backpack along the back road with the front end of his car. Evidently it didn't do him any serious damage. I did see the car leave Shaw's Park, but not under its own power, so it might have been on laughing matter and we are all glad Grant was lucky that time.

Jim Badly and Jessie were up of course, and had a family party. They are starting their vacation soon and will spend some time across the Straits, and the rest of the month at their cabin. Jim is after a big fish, not far from their cabin and I understand Paul Young is after it too. I haven't heard whether they have managed to land it yet or not.

Things are quite a bit different now, but Mr. Bromley and a party are expected soon, and guests are planned to come to lunch, and another possibly tomorrow.

Way down the river, Charlie Trosien is a busy bachelor. His sisters, Mary and Anna, and niece, C. Miller, are with him. Charlie looks as if he is getting some good feeds. Charlie entertains all of his near relatives every summer.

Mrs. Will Shaw, her grandson, and guests are staying in their cabin. Will is expected up soon, and there is talk of their living up here all winter.

I understand there are a lot of new folks along up the river and I'll try and find out about some of them and let you know soon.

Natural Bridge

Natural Bridge, often called the seventh natural wonder of the world, is near the historic town of Lexington, home of Washington and Lee university and the Virginia Military Institute. "The West Point of the South."

Frederic Notes

In past years persons from the lower part of the state have referred to Frederic as "that little God-forsaken place" simply because of its unprepossessing appearance. Lately there has seemed to be a "sprung up" movement that has greatly helped the attractiveness of the town. Tobin's new store, Bigham's Hotel, Chas. Craven's and Ed Welch's houses, also Mrs. Batterson's, Robt. Lozon's, Jungmann's and Roby's houses have received new paint, besides the town hall and Melroy's garage. Wm. Long's garage has a new front. Besides the new store there is also a new barber shop, the property of Chas. Craven. There are also several new and attractive signs. A few property owners of the old school sacrifice their own and others' interests by neglect of repairing, but since the tourist trade has become so important, it is simply a case of paint up or be left out.

George and Leo Bindschattel departed for the Upper Peninsula Monday morning. They will remain for two weeks while building a log cabin. Two boys, Kenneth Bindschattel and Eryn Ray, are suffering from deep cuts caused by broken glass. In a horticultural meeting, Jas. Tobin was elected to succeed him for a three-year term, and Ray Murphy for a two-year term as Frederic school trustees.

CANFIELD FAMILY REUNION
Mr. and Mrs. William Canfield and family of Boise Blanc Island called on his brother John Canfield, Sr., and family at Beaver Creek last Sunday.

The two brothers had not seen one another for twenty-seven years, so it was quite a reunion. Other callers at the John Canfield Sr. home were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Valentine of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. John Canfield, Jr., of Maple Forest; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Canfield of Beaver Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Canfield of Cheboygan.

Lovells

Thomas Morris of Saginaw spent some time in Lovells. Mr. Morris lived in Lovells when a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances Nephew and family spent the week end in Kalkaska with Mr. Nephew's sister, Mrs. Glen Gregg. Lorna Deer Nephew returned home with her parents after staying with her aunt for a month.

Joe LaMar and Vern Caid of Detroit visited a few days with Mr. A. R. Caid.

Mrs. Fred Rowe visited with friends in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. General Clemett and Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie, of Detroit, enjoyed a few days at Big Creek club.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Nephew and Miss Iris Nephew visited friends in Saginaw last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler are spending their vacation at the Pochon cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symons and family and Mrs. Jessie Kuehl of Saginaw, are staying at the Kuehl cabin.

BOW AND ARROW HUNTER

This fall for the first time in Michigan, bow and arrow hunters who go after deer or bear will be required to buy a special license and will hunt during a special open season in two lower peninsula counties.

Under a bill passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Murphy, the bow-and-arrow season on deer and bear will extend from Nov. 1 to Nov. 14, inclusive, only in the counties of Newaygo and Iosco, being followed on Nov. 15 by the regular deer season in these counties.

Under this arrangement the bow-and-arrow hunter may shoot deer or bear in Iosco and Newaygo counties without competition with rifle hunters. The bow and arrow license fee for residents is $2.25; for non-residents, $25. Groups of four or more may obtain a permit for $3 to take one deer for camp use under the same regulations as apply to the regular deer season.

All bow-and-arrow licenses will be sold from the Lansing office of the department of conservation; no licenses of this type will be sold in the field.

No hunter may buy both a "bow and arrow" license and a regular deer license. The law forbids the bow-and-arrow hunter to hunt deer or bear with a rifle during the regular open deer season.

The general regulations affecting regular deer and bear hunting apply to bow-and-arrow hunters. Each bow-and-arrow licensee may kill only one antlered deer, whose antlers are no less than three inches above the skull, and one bear. Possession of firearms by the archer is forbidden, either on his person or in his car.

Hamburger, German Term
Hamburger is a German term, made up from the name of the town of Hamburg (Germany) plus -er, ending of toponymic adjectives. Hamburger, says Literary Digest, is the shortened form for hamburger (or hamburg) steak—finely ground or chopped beef.

"And let me tell you, boys, this is going to be the finest show boat you ever laid your eyes on." That's what Chester M. Howell, vice-president of the Michigan Press Association, seems to be telling committee members planning the first annual Chesaning Show Boat July 16-17. "Chet" is gesturing with his hat. Others in the picture are R. M. Smith, Allan L. Swartzmiller, Joseph F. Swartzmiller, Ollie G. Richards and Ed Miller. "Chet" will entertain eastern Michigan newspapermen at a preview of the boat July 9.
